Stream Management Conference

Managing for Extremes

A REMINDER TO REGISTER

Monday 6th to Wednesday 8th February 2012. Canberra

This is a reminder to register for the 6th Australian Stream Management Conference – ‘Managing for Extremes’ – that will be held in Canberra in February 2012. Well over a hundred papers have been accepted for the proceedings, and we don’t want you to miss out on the exciting program. Anybody involved in managing rivers, streams, wetlands and estuaries should not miss this event. Sessions will cover the experiences that most of us have had over recent years such as floods, fires, and extremes of policy and politics. Special sessions on the Snowy and Murray-Darling systems, environmental flows, water quality, vegetation management and stakeholder engagement will complete the program. You should also register to:

- Enjoy the conference field trips where we will visit the cutting-edge projects taking place around the Australian Capital Territory
- Hear keynote talks from Australian and International speakers; including Stuart Bunn, John Williams, Andy Simons, Ian Rutherford, Siwan Lovett and more.
- Take advantage of the great value, with full registration costing only $875.00 AUD
- Take advantage of the special situation where, if you register in the next month, you can still speak/present at the conference in the special ‘speed-dating’ sessions.
